

Taco Bell Club

Typically Taco Bell isn't that busy on a Monday night. Explain to the manager what you are doing and that it will help their business. Try to get them to discount the entire bill and throw in the soda for free. Advertise all you can eat burritos, tacos and soda for $3 (you can change the price depending on how much you think your kids will eat, and the cost of the food). Have two leaders at the door, one to collect money and one to sign in kids. Have the rest of the leaders inside hanging with kids and passing out the food. Have the leaders order the burritos and tacos in bulk, and don't let the kids order. You probably can't use the sound system, which makes it difficult to be heard!

Participation 1: Eat a Burrito through Panty Hose

Have 6 kids get up in front and put a pair of pantyhose over their head-has to cover their mouth. Give each of them a burrito and have them eat the burrito through the pantyhose. First one to get most of the burrito through the pantyhose wins.

Participation 2: Slurp and Spit

Get 3 volunteers to come up front behind a table. There is one big bowl full of Jello/hotsauce in the middle. Each volunteer has their own small bowl and a straw. They have to suck up the Jello with their straw and then spit it into their own bowl. The person with the most stuff in their bowl wins.

Participation 3: Gargle a Tune with Salsa

Have 4 kids come up and give them a small cup of salsa. Have them take a swig and then gargle a tune with the salsa.

Announcements:

Message: